Why do we forget
about people when we talk about
innovation?

Innovation has been a popular subject for the last years. Bruce Nussbaum, perhaps
exaggerating, said “Innovation died in 2008, killed off by
overuse, misuse,
narrowness,
incrementalism and failure to evolve. It was done by CEOs, consultants, marketeers, advertisers and business journalists who degraded and devalued the idea by conflating it with change, technology, design, globalization, trendiness, and anything new. It was done by an obsession with measurement, metrics and maths and a demand for predictability in an unpredictable world.” If so, why another book on innovation? Because it is not one more book on the subject! It is a book that does not talk about innovation, but about people. Is there anything as important as people when innovating? This book describes how to create a true culture

of innovation, a
culture where innovation is not an objective, but a
consequence.

– again of any

is based on the view that the best way to subject is to do it, to be creative: not to prepare for the ubiquitous examination paper. The content of the book, and the associated exercises, are typically used to support five creative design exercises, the final one being a group project mirroring the activity
